

Congratulations

Steven Brose, DO

Chief of Spinal Cord Injury
Syracuse VA Medical Center

The Cleveland FES Center would like to congratulate Steven Brose, DO on his new position as Chief of Spinal Cord Injury at the Syracuse VA Medical Center in New York. Dr. Brose will be responsible for growing their young Spinal Cord Injury service, and developing a Spinal Cord Injury research program. An investigator in the Cleveland FES Center for seven years, Dr. Brose will continue collaborating as he grows the program in Syracuse.

About the FES Center

The Cleveland FES Center is a consortium of the Louis Stokes Cleveland VA Medical Center, MetroHealth Medical Center, Case Western Reserve University, and University Hospitals. With their support, researchers, engineers and clinicians collaborate together to develop innovative solutions that improve the quality of life of individuals with neurological or other muscular skeletal impairments. Through the use of neurostimulation and neuromodulation research and applications, the Cleveland FES Center leads the translation of this technology into clinical deployment.
