

Congratulations

Aasef Shaikh, MD, PhD

American Parkinson Disease Association
George C. Cotzias Fellowship

The Cleveland FES Center congratulates Aasef Shaikh, MD, PhD for being awarded the American Parkinson Disease Association's George C. Cotzias Fellowship. It is awarded to a young physician-scientist with exceptional promise. The award spans three years and is designed to fund a long-range project focused on Parkinson's Disease (PD).

The project will aim to understand how PD interferes in the brain pathways that maintain gait and balance.

About the FES Center

The Cleveland FES Center is a consortium of the Louis Stokes Cleveland VA Medical Center, MetroHealth Medical Center, Case Western Reserve University, University Hospitals, and the Cleveland Clinic Neurological Institute. With their support, researchers, engineers and clinicians collaborate together to develop innovative solutions that improve the quality of life of individuals with neurological or other muscular skeletal impairments. Through the use of neurostimulation and neuromodulation research and applications, the Cleveland FES Center leads the translation of this technology into clinical deployment.
